B U L L E T I N No. 3, May 1 – June 1

The number of birds reported this year is four greater thatn that of any year since the bulletin began. The total number is 180. The reason is probably due to the fact that the observers ranged over a greater and more diversified territory. This list is rather interesting from the fact that the warbler waves passed very quickly. May 11th seems to have been the height of the warbler migration.

The warblers recorded, with the date when each was first seen, is as follows:
